

Clinician Scientist Opportunities

Junior Clinician Scientist SpR Grade (£32,478 - £57,444) or Clinical Consultant Grade (£76,761 – £103,490) depending on experience.

The Wellcome - MRC Cambridge Stem Cell Institute is a world-leading centre for stem cell research with a mission to transform human health through a deep understanding of stem and progenitor cell biology (<http://www.stemcells.cam.ac.uk>). In 2018 we will move into a new state of the art building on the Cambridge Biomedical Campus adjacent to Addenbrooke's Hospital and multiple research institutes (<http://cambridge-biomedical.com>). This will result in a fully integrated, vibrant and cohesive stem cell community ideally placed to capitalise on the unique intellectual and clinical surrounding environment.

We are seeking exceptional clinician scientists as Group Leaders to complement our existing programmes and facilitate the translation of advances in stem cell science into novel stem cell 'medicines'. Applications in any area of medicine or surgery are welcome.

The Institute offers a collegiate environment with excellent core facilities for laboratory-based studies. In addition, our co-location with a major teaching hospital (Addenbrooke's) provides extensive opportunities to pursue patient based studies. Successful candidates will be supported to obtain external personal fellowship and grant support. Interim start-up packages may be available depending on individual circumstances.
